MEDIA STATEMENT: Church Grammar School crowned 2018 AMT Champion School

Christ Church Grammar School has a winning formula when it comes to Mathematics.

The School was front and centre at the 2018 Australian Night of Mathematics hosted by the Australian Mathematics Trust (AMT), at The University of Western Australia last week.

Christ Church student William Hu was awarded 'Best in State' for Year 12 students and nominated for the '2018 AMT Inspiring Student Award.'

Fellow student Joshua Chen was named 'Best in State' for Year 8 students and was recognised for being one of only two medal recipients from Western Australia.

Jeremiah Wang (Year 6) was also recognised as an 'AMC High Achiever' on the night.

"It was a fabulous occasion and the boys are to be congratulated on their success," says Christ Church Grammar School Director of Studies, Mr Mahendra Vaswani.

"William is an incredibly humble young man who continually assists his peers, encouraging them to participate."

"Joshua and Jeremiah are exceptional, well-rounded young men who are passionate about Mathematics."

"This kind of achievement is due to the calibre of our teaching staff and their commitment to motivating and supporting the boys."

"Our skilled teachers use strategies that ensure every boy's talents and interests are unlocked and they have an opportunity to shine."

Christ Church was also announced as this year's 'AMT Champion School.' This was in recognition of being a school that motivates students to learn, and one that fosters a passion for enjoying Mathematics and Algorithmics.
